Dear Miggie Pickton,

Thank you for contacting us, and I apologize that Richard Sanders has had some trouble downloading the pdf copy of his article. Permission to reprint the article referenced has been granted under Clause II of our Publishing Agreement, which both authors signed prior to publication. I have copied Clause II below for your reference.

II. COPYRIGHT IS THE AUTHOR'S

Copyright will be attributed to the author(s). The author(s) are granting Common Ground an exclusive international license to publish the work in all formats. Permission to republish or reproduce should be sought from Common Ground. The author may make complimentary electronic or printed copies of the work for teaching; for circulation within the organisation where they work; and post an electronic copy at their own or their organisation's website. They may also include all or part of the work in any commercial or non-commercial book that they author or edit themselves. In each case, the work must be accompanied by a full citation and a notice that readers must contact Common Ground for permission to reproduce.

As long as Common Ground Publishing is properly cited, permission to include the published pdf version of the article has been granted. Feel free to contact me with any other questions or concerns.

Thank you,

Stephanie
